Residents ready to gamble on proposed casino

Hundreds of Romulus voters attended an informational dinner hosted by the Sault Ste. Marie Tribe of Chippewa Indians Monday night at the Best Western in Romulus.

"We wanted to get a chance to talk to the absentee voters and answer any questions they might have on the proposed casino," said Steve Mitchell, a representative for the tribe. "It doesn't matter if people are for or against us. We just want them to have the information they need to make a decision."

During the hour and a half event, residents were given the opportunity to ask representatives of the tribe questions about the proposed casino. Many different issues were introduced by the residents including the estimated revenue that the City of Romulus could expect, the number of jobs for Romulus residents and the types of things that the city could do with the estimated revenue.

Mitchell assured those present that the city by law is required to receive 2 percent of the slot revenues each year. This is an estimated $6 million each year to the city, said Mitchell.

"When you think about the fact that annual budget for the City of Romulus is $19 million," said Mitchell. "That six million figure is one third of the budget each year."

When Mayor Alan Lambert took the microphone, the residents began to cheer for his words on the casino.

"We have been pushed around by the county and the state for years," he said. "This is our turn to do something for us. We have the opportunity to give our senior citizens a new center, to get a new recreation center. We could even build a new animal shelter. I am urging voters to get out and vote for this casino on Dec. 2."

Many residents expressed the same feelings as the mayor.

"Yes on the casino," said Archie Shelton. "What is so hard to make up your mind about? There is nothing hard to figure out here. Anything that can build something up in Romulus is worth it."

Shelton's wife, Louise did not hold the strong convictions of her husband on this issue.

"I haven't made my mind up yet," she said. "I am here to see if they can convince me."

The Hardin family was represented by three generations, all of whom are in favor of the casino.

"The big thing is the jobs and what it could and should do for tax base here in Romulus," said William Hardin. "I thought about it for a little while, but there wasn't a lot to think about."

His son, Travis, said he feels the same way about the proposed casino.

"It brings up the economic value in the City of Romulus," he said. "We have never had anything, except for an airport running through the middle of the city. This will give the city more money and will bring people back to Romulus."

The Hardins would also like to see the estimated $6 million in slot revenues used to better the city.

"I think the money should first go to education and the Romulus school system," said Travis Hardin.

His father agreed adding, "Then to the streets of the city and the city services in general."

Other residents were looking to the possibility of bringing 3,500 new jobs to the city.

"I work for the MGM casino downtown," said Tammy Jager. "If I could get a job out this way, it would make it a lot easier than commuting to Detroit every day."

Carma Jernigan, also an employee of the MGM agreed.

Different groups in Romulus have also come out in full force to support the proposed casino, including the Romulus Democratic Club, whose president, Jack Trunbull, attended the dinner and urged voters to vote yes.

"I was on the city council in the 70s," he said. "And I saw developers come in and say they were going to build something and then do nothing and the city goes nowhere. But this is different. This would be great for Romulus. It would generate a lot of business for the city. That is why our club is for the proposed casino."

Lambert ended the evening by saying, "We are in control of this. We will do the negotiating and the county won't come in and take this over for us. We will do it ourselves."

Representatives of the proposed casino are organizing a Nov. 24 job fair at a location yet to be determined.

Mayor meets President

Romulus Mayor Alan Lambert greeted President George W. Bush at Metro Airport recently during his visit to Michigan. The Romulus Police Department work in connection with federal and Wayne County authorities each time the President arrives at Metro. Lambert took a moment to discuss homeland security with Bush.

Undercover unit cracks Video Fox case

Four armed robbers allowed the undercover unit of the Romulus Police Department to demonstrate the level of their skill.

And the police didn't disappoint. All four suspects are in custody and charged with the crime, said Det. Sgt. Jeff Lazarski of the Romulus Police Department.

According to Lazarski, on Oct. 24, three males entered the Video Fox located at 8498 Wayne Road in Romulus carrying a gun. One of the men pointed the weapon in the clerk's face and demanded money from the register, Lazarski said. A female customer was also threatened and robbed at gunpoint.

The three men ran out of the store and into a waiting vehicle.

They took $120 and two

Educators voice concerns about state testing scores

State Representative Hoon-Yung Hopgood (D-Taylor) hosted a town hall meeting recently at Truman High School in Taylor regarding the issues and problems surrounding the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) test, accompanied by fellow Democratic state representatives Kathleen Law (Gibraltar), Dan Paletko (Dearborn Heights) and Aldo Vagnozzi (Farmington Hills).

"With all the recent problems that have surrounded the MEAP, we felt it was important to listen to the people educating Michigan's children—teachers, administrators and parents—on how best to use the MEAP to improve the process," said Hopgood. "The MEAP can remain a critical component in assessing our public schools, but it cannot stay the only one. If we are going to provide a world-class education that teaches the skills necessary for our leaders of tomorrow to succeed, we must examine the overall ways we assess education in Michigan."

The meeting, which was well-attended by many Taylor and Romulus school faculty members, was intended to allow the educators the chance to express their difficulties and experiences when dealing with the MEAP test, he said

Some of the various negative issues regarding the test included the delay in receiving the test scores from the state in time to be able to use the results to change the curriculum for the school year. Others brought up the fact that more than 1,000 tests from the Grand Rapids School District were lost by the state. Those schools that did finally receive results from the MEAP found some of the data was incorrect.

Schools use MEAP scores for many reasons: to measure performance, to comply with the federal No Child Left Behind Act; and to issue annual progress reports to parents and other interested parties. Add to the fact that Michigan students can receive a Merit Award Scholarship for $2,500 for scoring well on the MEAP, and many have come to the conclusion that teaching the MEAP has become the main focus of Michigan schools, said Hopgood.

James Orme, a guidance counselor from Romulus High School attended the meeting, said he was frustrated with the workload the

BUSINESS

American dream New restaurant adds to 10 years of family success

Theresa Wherrett

In an age where the same mega-chains such as Max & Erma's and Friday's seem to dominate every strip mall, it is nice to encounter a true family-owned business.

George Marvaso, 61, owns and operates the Electric Stick and the newly-opened Stick Café with wife, Mary, and grown children Geo, Leslie, Sunday and Candy.

"The kids are a godsend," said the senior Marvaso.

Marvaso opened his first business, the Electric Stick, in 1993. At the time, it was voted the Number One New Billiard Center in the United States by Billiards Digest Magazine.

"It's truly the American Dream," said Marvaso. "We started with no assets, no money, nothing. It took a lot of hard work and faith."

After operating the Electric Stick for 10 years, Marvaso was offered the opportunity to expand next door when the old tenant (Harmony House) left. In what he called a "huge change", Marvaso knocked down the wall and created a unique sports bar next to the billiards area. The doors to the new Stick Café opened Aug. 25. The elegant décor, a copy of a spot in the Bellagio in Las Vegas, adds an ambiance and feel not usually seen in a sports bar.

"We really have pushed for quality," Marvaso said. "We spend a lot of money to provide the best food available."

That food, however, is not exorbitantly priced. The most expensive food item is an 8-ounce New York Strip at $19.99. Other items, such as burgers and sandwiches, start at $6.99.

The Stick Café is an elegant sports bar with nine digital wide-screen televisions, which can offer a break to those playing pool next door or a place for the sports fan to watch his or her favorite game. "Our most popular games are the Wings, Sunday NFL and college football," said Marvaso.

George Marvaso (left), owner of the Electric Stick and the new Stick Café in Westland, has found his new eatery has become a popular gathering place for political fundraisers, as representatives from Sen. Laura Toy (D-Westland) and U.S. Congressman Thad McCotter's (R-Livonia) office can attest. Each hosted a fundraiser there recently.

Marvaso traveled extensively throughout the country to determine the exact look and feel of this new venture, according to son, Geo.

"We really strived for quality," he said. "My dad went to Las Vegas, New Orleans, just all over the country to make sure everything was just right."

The results are obvious in both the décor and atmosphere. Service, too, is superior. There is an excellent ratio of servers to customers and the waitpersons are knowledgeable, helpful and obviously, trained to meet the needs of the customers.

The Stick Café and the adjoining Electric Stick have become popular fundraising and group spots, recently hosting events for Congressman Thaddeus McCotter and Sen. Laura Toy. Marvaso also offers free church youth group parties.

"We offer free youth group parties to any church," said

Marvaso. "We'll take up to 40 kids at a time and they can play free pool and free arcade games. We'll give them a burger and fries free. We only ask that they pay the tip. The kids have a great time." Marvaso estimated that he has allowed 15 - 20 church youth groups to come in for free over the last year.

The Stick Café is located at 6569 N. Wayne Road in Westland. For more information, call 734-405-5222.

Housewares parties gaining popularity with homeowners

Look out, Tupperware.

Once the mainstay of the home-based sales party, Tupperware has had to share the market with many newcomers. One of the newest, Southern Living at Home, has been sweeping across the country and is currently the fastest growing party plan company in the history of direct sales. Southern Living at Home sells decorative household items.

Canton Township resident Pam Uller, 42, joined the party last year when she decided to become a sales consultant. She says she has no regrets.

"This is a great way to earn money," Uller said. "I set my own hours. It lets me be creative. I've made a lot of great friends."

Uller, the mother of two school-age children, may be like many women who are flocking to join Southern Living ranks. For many, the appeal of being a home-based consultant lies in the flexibility of work hours - a big bonus to moms who also have to squeeze in soccer practice and doctor's appointments. About 50 percent of Southern Living At Home consultants work on a part-time basis, according to the company website.

Of course, many others may have joined this high-flying start-up eyeing the potential for future dollars. Like many home-based sales organization, the big dollars to be made are in the management of other consultants.

Just imagine having the opportunity to join Pampered Chef or Mary Kay in the early years, and were able to convince hundreds or even thousands to follow your lead. According to Uller, one of the six women who started the company now has 7,000 consultants working for her and is making well over six figures a year.

Indeed, Southern Living at Home has enjoyed phenomenal success. Started only two years ago in 2001, the company has expanded to include more than 25,000 consultants. Wholesale revenue for 2002 topped $85 million. For 2003, the company anticipates wholesale revenue to be approximately $140 million, earned from about 250,000 parties, a 40 percent increase in parties from the prior year.

There's no indication that the growth will let up anytime soon. Started in Birmingham, AL, as a spin-off from the Southern Living Magazine, the company has been branching out of the south to invade western and northern territory. Forty percent of the current sales force is now located outside of the south.

Getting in on the ground floor played into Uller's decision to join Southern Living at Home, although how far she will go in the company remains to be seen. After spending a year as a consultant, she has one other consultant working for her. She currently averages about four parties per month for total monthly sales of approximately $2,000.

No matter how far she goes, however, Uller says she just enjoys the products and likes getting out of her house to sell her wares at neighborhood parties.

"I'm really enjoying my own party-plan business," said Uller. "This is fulfilling for me."

Students learn about disabilities during Handicapable Week

Ashley Lawrence
Staff Writer

Students at Romulus High School received a first hand lesson in the everyday struggles handicapped people face last week during Handicapable Week.

The purpose of the week is to promote the understanding and acceptance of individuals who face physical, hearing, visual, articulation and intellectual challenges, according to school officials.

"We want to teach kids to be sensitive to kids with impairments, as well as how to relate to and accommodate them," said Rhonda McAllister-Henry, social worker at Romulus High School. "This week is about giving them the knowledge and the skills to be better prepared to deal with people with impairments."

Handicapable Week was created five years ago because of a former student.

"We would see the way the other kids were very insensitive to this students situation," said Suzanne Synder, a special education teacher at Romulus High School. "We wanted to create a program that would show kids that these kids with impairments were just kids themselves and going through the same things, just on another level."

Each day students learned about a specific disability. During the mandatory silent school reading time each day, students were supplied with articles on the given disability.

Students then watched a video, which helped further in teaching them about the different ailments. Other topics of the week included physical impairments, cerebral palsy, sensitivity to disabilities and speech, language and hearing disorders.

A motivational speaker is also brought in each year during Handicapable Week. In the past years, wheelchair-bound accident victims have spoken, as well as a visually impaired man. This year the Romulus Rotary Club sponsored Dennis Garden to speak to the 1100 high school students at a mandatory assembly.

Garden was extensively burned in a fire when he was just 14 years old. He then spent the next eight months in the hospital and two years isolated in his home.

Since that time, Garden has regained his will to live and is determined to give this message to anyone who will listen. Garden says, "I can't tell anyone how to get through his or her own personal challenges, each must find their own way. But, what I can do is share my challenges and what I have learned from them and in doing so, encourage others to face and conquer their challenges."

Finally during the week students were given the chance to sign up to be impaired for an entire school day. Whether it is in a wheelchair, crutches or wearing earplugs and headphones to simulate hearing impairments, 40 students signed up.

"All of the students always want the wheelchairs," said McAllister-Henry. "They always think it will be great because they can use the elevator and get out of class early. But that changes by the end of the day."

Many students ended their day with an impairment in tears.

"We had students coming in and saying that they never realized how hard something like this would be and literally they were in tears," said Synder.

Teachers felt the same way about the weeklong look at disabilities.

"The teachers are also forced to decide what they would need to do to accommodate a student with disabilities," said Synder. "Teachers are very thankful for this week, because it also teaches them about dealing with disabilities."

MEAP piles on.

"It's a job just to get this test ready to go," he said. "Then, on top of that, I have 350 students to take care of each day. This is no longer testing for the good of the teachers. It is now how we are going to sell our real estate in our cities."

Orme expressed concern about some of the questions found on the MEAP.

"How reliable is this test?," he asked. "Some of the questions have ambiguous meanings, How are the kids supposed to answer these questions? I think all the legislators should have to take the test before they dish it out to the kids."

Off the 211 students who took the MEAP from Romulus High School, where it is now a graduation requirement, 50 students were eligible for the merit scholarship.

Relative to other school districts in Michigan, Romulus Community Schools generates well below-average student results with well above-average spending per student. Hopgood was positive about some changes currently taking place in Lansing regarding the MEAP.

"I was very happy to see that Gov. Granholm recently moved the administration of the MEAP back to the Michigan Department of Education from the Department of Treasury," he said.

Gov. Engler placed it within the jurisdiction of the treasury, because it dealt with Merit Scholarship monies.

Granholm's change will take place Dec. 21.

Western Union money orders totaling about $200, Lazarski said

On Oct. 28, the two checks were cashed and a Romulus police undercover unit took charge and made it a point to solve this case, said Lazarski.

"These guys worked non-stop for 26 hours to solve this case," he said. "They were incredible."

After tracing the checks, cashed through Western Union in Colorado, Romulus officers arrested the man who had signed and cashed the checks. Further investigation revealed that he was simply cashing them for his younger brother. The man had no idea that the checks had been stolen in an armed robbery, police said.

The man led authorities to his younger brother who, in turn, confessed to the robbery and named the others involved.

On Nov. 11, a search warrant was obtained and all four men were under arrest by Nov. 12.

Wade Givham, 17, Kenny Davis, 18, and Dustin Duprey, 18, all of Romulus have been charged with two counts of armed robbery. Christopher Rutledge, 17, of Wayne has been charged with two counts of armed robbery and a felony firearms charge, which carries representing herself to a police officer:

"She was scared," he said.

The female then revealed that her boyfriend, the driver of the vehicle, had been involved in an armed robbery two nights before in Romulus, according to police.

Doulette proceeded to search the car and found a toy gun under the front seat and a pack of Monarch cigarettes in the man's pocket.

"The toy gun looked very real," said Lazarski. "His girlfriend then informed Doulette that the man didn't smoke Monarch cigarettes. The officer immediately contacted the Romulus Police Department to check on the story of the armed robbery."

When Lazarski received the call late in the evening, he said he was impressed that Doulette had gone to such extents to investigate the crime.

Upon the instruction of the Romulus police, Lewis was taken into custody in Dearborn and immediately transferred to Romulus where he was charged with armed robbery.

Lewis, who has already spent five years in prison for armed robbery, is looking at more prison time with this crime.

"I think he will definitely do some time for this," said Lazarski. "We are very grateful to Doulette for the terrific job he did and for helping us solve this case. It is an example of great police work."

Wrestling superstars to appear

Romulus was recently visited by three World Wrestling Entertainment (WWE) superstars to help promote a local wrestling event taking place Sunday evening at the Diamondback Saloon in Belleville.

The "Belleville Bash", which is the creation of promoter Dave Martin, general manager of the Landing Strip, will feature such former WWE superstars as Raven and D Lo Brown.

"It will be a great time and we should see some great wrestling," said Martin.

Tickets for the event are still available and can also be purchased at the door. Ticket prices are; $25 for VIP tickets, which includes a 45-minute autograph session with the wrestlers. Advanced tickets are $12 for adults and $5 for children. At the door, tickets will be $15 for adults and $7 for children. The event begins at 6:30. For more information call 313-438-4137.

Stroke risk testing available at Belleville church Saturday

Heather Connor
Staff Writer

It only takes 10 minutes to find out whether or not someone is at risk for stroke.

That's why Life Line Screening of Cleveland, OH, will visit the Trinity Episcopal Church at 9 a.m. Saturday in Belleville. Health professionals will use ultrasound to detect the risk of stroke for individuals. The tests are given for a low cost by appointment beginning at 9 a.m.

"These non-invasive, inexpensive and painless ultrasound tests help people identify their risk for stroke, vascular diseases or osteoporosis early enough for their physician to begin preventive procedures," said Paula Motolik of Life Line Screening.

A stroke is the third leading killer in the world, and is the second among women, Motolik said. Through preventive screenings, the risk of having a stroke can be greatly reduced, she said. Ultrasound technology can scan for potential health problems related to blocked arteries, aortic aneurysms and hardening of the arteries, Motolik said. The group also offers bone density screenings for men and women, which can assess the risk for osteoporosis, she said.

Each screening requires 10 minutes or less to complete, Motolik said. A complete vascular package, which includes the stroke/carotid artery, abdominal aortic aneurysm and anke brachial index screenings, costs $99. A complete vascular package, along with an osteoporosis screening, costs $125.

Motolik said Life Line Screening was established in 1993 and has since become the nation's leading provider of vascular screenings.

More than 45 ultrasound teams on staff travel to communities around the country to bring screenings to local communities, she said.

For more information regarding the screenings or to make an appointment, call 1-800-643-6188. Pre-registration is required for a screening. Trinity Episcopal Church is located at 11575 Belleville Road in Belleville. Life Line Screening can be found on the Web at www.lifelinescreening.com.

Westland mayor named woman of distinction

Theresa Wherrett

Westland Mayor Sandra Cicirelli was named one of six western Wayne YWCA "Women of Distinction" last week before a crowd of 325 people.

Cicirelli, who had been nominated by her executive assistant Joann Seaberg, won the honor in the category "Government/Law."

Five other women were also honored in separate categories: Kim Trent, Arts/Communication; Judith Quinn, Business/Industry; Dr. Beverly Black, Professions; Rose Khalifa, Volunteer Service; and Elizabeth Youngblood, Young Woman. Senator Debbie Stabenow (D-MI) was named YWCA Woman of the Year.

"These women have demonstrated outstanding leadership in personal and professional endeavors in Wayne County," said Mary Kramer, associate publisher/editor of Crain's Detroit Business, who acted as the event mistress of ceremonies.

The annual awards program, started in 1992, is a way to recognize women who have helped to better western Wayne County, according to Corinne Vincent, outgoing executive director for the Western Wayne YWCA. Each year, a winner is chosen in each of the six fields, based on rankings from an eight-person selection committee. Honorees this year were chosen from a total nomination pool of 36 women, according to Vincent. Previous winners have included Amyre Makupson, Jennifer Granholm, Kay Beard and Paula Blanchard.

"Many of the women who have preceded me are well-respected and I'm pleased to be considered in the same category with them," said Cicirelli. "I am very honored to be recognized and to have won this award."

Cicirelli served for 10 years as mediator with the 21st District Court and served on the Childwatch Committee of the Juvenile Law Section. She was elected for three consecutive terms (1990 - 2002) to the Westland City Council and was voted by her colleagues to serve as council president. On Jan. 1, 2002, she became the first female mayor of the city. She has also served in numerous volunteer roles, helped to obtain grant funds for the county skate park, and introduced and obtained support for the city Youth Assistance Program.

Westland residents Delphine Kosta and Helen Ontko and Wayne resident Henriette Lentine were all nominated for the honor in the volunteer category.

Local communities face 'true-up' payments for Detroit water

Scott Spielman
Editor

Some communities in western Wayne County will be forced to make a one-time true up payment to the Detroit Water and Sewer Department (DWSD).

The payment reflects a change in technology that allows the DWSD to more accurately gauge the amount of water that is used by local municipalities, according to Don Weaver, director of public services for Northville Township.

For the past 20 years, those rates have been determined in part by an estimate of peak flow hours and peak flow days for the municipalities, and how they relate to the capacity of the DWSD. It is also impacted by several other factors, such as the distance of the community from the pumping stations and the elevation of it. Recently the department installed new telemetry systems that can give a more accurate picture, Weaver said.

"It gives them the ability to monitor the use every 15 minutes," he said.

The DWSD decided to bill communities for any discrepancies in a one-time payment. Weaver said he was expecting the bill in December.

Northville Township would pay an additional $84,501, Canton Township would pay an additional $263,059, Inkster an additional 33,330 and the City of Wayne would pay an additional $10,864.

Other communities face larger payments - the City of Troy will have to pay an additional $714, 346, while Pontiac will pay an additional $528,638.

Not all communities have underpaid, however. The City of Northville is set to get a $2,528 refund, the City of Plymouth will get a $3,039 refund, Plymouth Township will receive $34,254, Romulus, $76,891 and Westland, $18,704.

Weaver said the data from the new technology will be blended into the way the rates have been historically calculated during the next several years.

"They're just trying to refine their calculations," said John Spencer, from the Canton Township budget department. "I don't see a significant increase in our rates because of this."

- (b) Information confidential. The City Clerk shall keep all information furnished or secured under the authority of this chapter in strict confidence. Such information shall not be subject to public inspection and shall be kept so that the contents thereof shall not become known except to the persons charged with the administration of this chapter. This provision shall not Emit the ability of the various City Departments to share and access this information for purposes of enforcement of this chapter.

Sec. 17-6: Qualifications of applicants.

The general standard herein set out relative to the qualifications of every applicant for a certificate of business registration shall be considered and applied by the City Clerk. The applicant shall:

- (1) Citizenship. Be a citizen of the United States of America, or a person allowed to do business under the laws of the state and the United States of America.
- (2) No obligations to city. Not be in default under the provisions of this chapter or indebted or obligated in any manner to the city except for current taxes.
- (3) Compliance with zoning regulations. Present a certificate of occupancy furnished by the city inspector, or a letter from the building director, to the effect that the proposed use of any premises is not a violation of city zoning regulations.

Sec. 17-7: Procedures for issuance of certificate of registration.

- (a) Formal application required. Every person required to produce a certificate of registration under the provisions of any ordinance or law of the city shall submit an application for such registration to the City Clerk. Such business registration shall expire annually on the anniversary of the issuance of the certificate. If the holder of the certificate moves or changes the type of business from that stated in the certificate, a new application must be filed. The application shall:
 - (1) Form of application. Be a written statement upon forms provided by the City Clerk; such form shall include an affidavit, to be sworn to by the applicant before a notary public of this state.
 - (2) Contents of application. Require the disclosure of all information necessary to comply with Section (1) above and of any other information which the City Clerk shall find to be reasonably necessary to the fair administration of this chapter.

- (3) Payment of fees. Be accompanied by the full amount of the fees chargeable for such registration.
- (4) Issuance fee. Be accompanied by a nonrefundable payment of an issuance fee as established by council resolution.
- (b) Issuance of receipts. Whenever a registration cannot be issued at the time the application is made, the City Clerk shall issue a receipt to the applicant for the money paid in advance, subject to the following conditions:
 - (1) Construction. Such receipt shall not be construed as the approval of the City Clerk for the issuance of a certificate of registration; nor shall it entitle or authorize the applicant to open or maintain any business contrary to the provisions of this chapter.
 - (2) Reserved.
- (c) Renewal registration procedure; form of application. The applicant for the renewal of a certificate of registration shall submit an application for such certificate to the City Clerk. Such business registration shall expire on the anniversary of the issuance of the certificate. The application shall be a written statement upon forms provided by the City Clerk; such form shall include an affidavit to be sworn to by the applicant before a notary public of this state.
- (d) Duplicate registration procedure. A duplicate certificate of registration or special certificate shall be issued by the City Clerk to replace any certificate previously issued, which has been lost, stolen, defaced or destroyed, without any willful conduct on the part of the certificate holder, upon the filing by the certificate holder of an affidavit sworn to before a notary public of this state attesting to such fact and the paying to the city treasure a fee as established by council resolution.
- (e) Compliance pending legal action. When the issuance of a certificate of registration is denied and any action instituted by the applicant to compel its issuance, such applicant shall not engage in the business for which the certificate was refused unless a certificate be issued to him pursuant to a judgement ordering the same.

Sec. 17-8: Contents of certificate of registration; information required.

Each certificate of registration secured hereunder shall state upon its face the following:

- (1) The name of the holder, the business, and any other name under which such business is to be conducted.
- (2) The kind of business at each location and the address of each business registered.
- (3) The amount of registration fee therefor.
- (4) Such other information as the City Clerk shall determine.

Sec. 17-9: Duties of certificate holders.

(a) General standards of conduct. Every certificate holder under this chapter shall:

- (1) Certificate inspection. Permit all reasonable inspection of his or her business.
- (2) Comply with governing law. Ascertain and at all times comply with all laws and regulations applicable to such registered business.
- (3) Operate properly. Avoid all forbidden, improper, unnecessary practices or conditions which do or may affect the public health, morals, or welfare.
- (4) Cease business. Refrain from operating the registered businesses on the premises after expiration of his or her registration certificate and/or during the period his or her registration is revoked or suspended.

(b) Display of certificate. Every certificate holder under this chapter shall:

- (1) Certificates. Post and maintain such certificate of registration upon the registered premises in a place where it may be seen at all times.
- (2) Unlawful possession. Not loan, sell, give, or assign to any other person, or allow any other person to use or display or to destroy, damage, or remove, or to have in his or her possession, except as authorized by the City Clerk or by law, any certificate of registration which has been issued to the certificate holder.

(c) New location desired. A certificate holder shall have the right to change the location of the registered business provided he or she shall:

- (1) Notification of City Clerk. Notify City Clerk of Changes and complete a new registration form, including the change of location.
- (2) Inspections. Inspections as provided for new business.

Sec. 17-10: Transferability of certificate of registration.

This certificate is nontransferable.

Sec. 17-11: Enforcement.

(a) Inspections.

- (1) Persons authorized; officials having duties. The following persons are authorized to conduct inspections in the manner prescribed herein: The City Clerk shall have the authority to order the inspection of certificate holders, their businesses and premises, by all city officials having duties to perform with reference to such holders or businesses.

- (2) Reports by inspectors. Persons inspecting certificate holders, their businesses, or premises as herein authorized shall report all violations of this chapter or of other laws or ordinances to the City Clerk and shall submit such other reports as the City Clerk shall order.

(b) Provisional order. When an inspector has reported the violation of this chapter or any law or ordinance, the City Clerk shall issue to the affected person a provisional order to comply.

- (1) Nature of notice. The provisional order, and all other notices issued in compliance with this chapter, shall be in writing, shall be personally served and shall apprise the affected or his or her agent or employee. A copy of such notice shall be affixed to some structure on the premises. Depositing such notice in the United States mail shall constitute service thereon.

- (2) Period of compliance. The provisional order shall require compliance within ten (10) days of personal service on the affected person.

- (3) Hearing. Upon written application by the person affected before the expiration of the ten-day period for compliance, the City Clerk shall order a hearing. Notice of such hearing shall be given the affected person in the manner described herein.

(c) Modifying authority of City Clerk. Upon written application, or on his or her own motion, the City Clerk shall have the authority in a proper case, to extend the time for compliance to grant a new hearing date, and to change, modify or rescind any recommendation or order.

(d) Final order. Upon the failure or refusal of the violator to comply with the provisional order or with any order made after hearing, the City Clerk shall then declare and make the provisional order final.

- (1) Authority of City Clerk. The City Clerk shall have the authority to suspend or revoke registration upon making and declaring a provisional order final.

- (2) Effect of revocation or suspension. Upon revocation or suspension no refund of any portion of the registration fee shall be made to the certificate holder and he or she shall immediately cease all business at all places under such registration.

(e) Summary action; special hearing. When the conduct of any certificate holder, agent, or employee is so inimicable to the public health, safety, and general welfare as to constitute a nuisance and thus give rise to an emergency, the City Clerk shall have the authority to summarily order the cessation of business and the close of premises or to suspend or revoke the certificate holder's registration.

Unless waived in writing, within two (2) days after he or she has acted summarily, the City Clerk shall conduct a special hearing for such action in respect to the summary order as may be therein determined. Notice of such hearing shall be given the affected person in the manner prescribed herein.

(f) Right of appeal. Any person aggrieved by any decision of the City Clerk after hearing shall have the right to appeal to the City Council by filing a written appeal with such officer within fourteen (14) days following the effective date of the action or decision complained of.

- (1) Contents of appeal. Such appeal shall get out a copy of the order or decision appealed from and shall include a statement of the facts relied upon to avoid such order.

- (2) Notification of City Clerk. At the time of filing any such appeal, a copy thereof shall be filed by the appellant with the City Clerk.

- (3) Hearing. The City Council shall fix a time and place for hearing the appeal and shall personally serve a written notice, as provided herein, upon the appellant informing him thereof. The City Council shall also give such notice to the City Clerk and such officer shall be entitled to appear and defend such order.

- (4) Effect of decisions. The findings of the City Council shall be final and conclusive and shall be personally served upon the appellant as required herein.

(g) Liability of violator:

- (1) Unpaid fee constitutes debt. The amount of any unpaid fee, the payment of which is required hereunder, shall constitute a debt due to the city.

- (2) Action by City Attorney. The City Attorney shall, at the direction of the Mayor or City Council, institute civil suit in the name of the city to recover any such unpaid fee.

- (3) Civil Judgment no bar. No civil judgment, or any act by City Attorney, the City Clerk, or the violator shall bar or prevent a criminal prosecution for each and every violation of this chapter.

17-12: Penalties.

Mail for soldiers overseas sought

Employees of the Central Dispatch Network (CDN) in Belleville are seeking volunteers to send Christmas cards and letters to soldiers stationed overseas. Letters must be mailed by 5 p.m. Dec. 10 in order for them to arrive before Christmas. Regular postal requirements apply, and First Class, 37-cent stamps must be used for all normal sized cards and letters.

Those who do not have time to send a card but would like to show their support may drop off a box of Christmas cards or some postage stamps at the Central Dispatch office. Those who have a family member or a friend stationed overseas that would like to have their name added to a list of soldiers that will receive cards and letters can drop off the address at the dispatch office.

Letters sent to the following addresses will be given to soldiers deployed from the armory on Beech Daly Road in Taylor: For soldiers in Iraq, send to Any Soldier, A Company 234th Signal BN, Unit #91449, APO AE09391. For soldiers stationed in Kuwait, send to Any Soldier, 1775 Military Police Company, APO AE 09366, Camp Arifan, Kuwait. For soldiers station in Cuba, send to Any Soldier, HQ 177th MPBDE, APO AE 09360, JTF GTMO.

The CDN office is located at the Belleville Police Department, located at 6 Main St. inside Belleville City Hall. For more information contact Sue Dufresne at (734) 941-9103.

Misinformation is formidable opponent

To wait, or not to wait? That's the first question officials in the City of Northville wanted to address as they restarted their plans to provide for parking expansion in downtown Northville.

On the one hand, they didn't want to seem too eager. They didn't want the residents who so recently defeated a bond issue for a proposed parking plan to think they were immediately devising a different way to sell the same idea.

On the other hand, they didn't want to wait too long; they wanted to gather input about any proposed changes while the feelings from the election were still fresh in the minds of critics.

The Dec. 8 meeting scheduled to solicit input strikes a good balance between the sides; the election is still relatively recent, officials get a chance to review their own decisions and the memory of the whole thing hasn't been blunted by a typically rushed holiday season.

City leaders and members of the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) have another line they must walk without crossing, however, and it may prove to be a more difficult form of politicking. They also don't want to react too strongly, or give the impression that they are reacting vengefully after the defeat of their proposal.

It'd be an easy thing to do. Virtually every day they get more input from residents who say they were misinformed by those circulating the petitions to have the issue placed on the November ballot. Some of those residents were told a variety of falsehoods about the height of the deck, that it would require a charge for admittance, be paid for through tax increases – virtually anything that would cause concern for residents in order to push the right buttons and turn them against the plan. Flyers were sent out depicting airplanes landing on it. Signs – even in downtown businesses – urged people to vote down “the monster deck.”

Now development on the corner of Wing and Main street – one site for a proposed parking deck – will go forward, and business owners there are already talking about cordoning off their portions of the lot to show the impact the developments would have. This would have two purposes: it protects the portion of the lot they own, and the spots they provide for their customers, and it says something to the residents who voted down the plan.

I told you so.

It must be a frustrating thing to see the result of more than 18 months of decision-making turned aside by voters by such a wide margin. That frustration is probably compounded by the belief that the plan was a good one, one that wouldn't cost residents anything, and that it was defeated by a misinformation campaign.

But the best way to make sure that doesn't happen again is by pointing out the mistakes or blaming others. The best way is to work with everyone to make sure those mistakes don't happen again.

On the right track

Usually, when any organization attempts to increase voter turnout, they use phrases like “civic duty,” or “inalienable rights.” They often market the election, whether it's for a particular legislator or local, regional or state-wide ballot proposal, as an opportunity to weigh in on the future of the community.

There is no place that they may be more true, perhaps, than in the City of Romulus this year. Voters there will be asked on Dec. 2 to approve or reject two initiatives – one of which would allow a Native

WE'RE STILL LOOKING AT NEW TYPES OF ALTERNATE FUNDING...

Give the good guys a break

The Plymouth Goodfellows will be decidedly less visible when they take to the streets for their annual paper sales on the first Saturday in December.

That's because they won't be able to actually take to the streets. City officials made the decision earlier this year to not allow them to stand in intersections, where they had been a holiday tradition, citing safety concerns and statewide statutes prohibiting solicitations in the street.

Well, that's what they said. What they meant is that there are too many liability concerns. They're afraid of lawsuits.

In a way it's understandable. Plymouth has been subjected to a variety of well-publicized lawsuits of questionable validity during the recent years. Who needs another one?

But come on, this is a staple of the holidays, a group of men and women willing to wear brightly colored vests and stand between the lanes in intersections to gather donations from drivers. It's hard not to reflect on the spirit of the holidays when you see them, bundled against the chill, cheeks red and breath misting, as they hold their papers aloft and try to get money for a good cause. It's easier for drivers to empty out the spare change they keep in cup holders while they're paused for a light than it is for them to park on a busy street and find someone standing in front of a store.

Many store owners, by the way, aren't all that fond of having people stand in front of their doorways with an expectant smile on their faces. They may think it would dissuade shoppers from spending money inside.

The Goodfellows will still be out, though. They'll still be looking for other ways to raise their funds and make sure no child goes without a Christmas.

I guess the thing that bothers me more is the apparent double standard it illustrates on the part of local elected officials. They're always crying about how they want more local control. They think they are better able to set the standards for their communities than some legislators in Lansing. Yet, when it comes to something they don't want to deal with, they always fall back on the state-wide standards and statutes.

There's nothing we can do about it, they say. It's the state's rule, not ours.

Well, sure there's something they can do about it. Make sure the group is insured, put together a hold harmless agreement, if necessary, and for once forget the world is run by lawyers who prey on people trying to make an easy buck because of the consequences of their own decisions.

In Plymouth, particularly, where Goodfellows volunteers typically stood at the intersections of Ann Arbor Trail and Main, Ann Arbor Trail and Penniman, and on Harvey Street intersections – busy roads, but not necessarily unsafe ones – they should be allowed to carry on their tradition.

It wouldn't hurt to allow them to continue that practice, and it wouldn't hurt drivers during the holiday to slow down and remember the reason for the season.

Councilman clears the air

To the editor:

Regarding the 11/13/03 editorial, I'm writing to offer you and your newspaper an apology. Although my understanding was that certain verbiage was off the record during the evening of Nov. 4, it doesn't excuse the intent of my comments and my feelings at that time.

When I said that I would not continue speaking unless we were off the record, your response was, “I've dropped my pencil.” And while I do not recall saying I was, “pissed off,” I won't deny that I might have used that derogatory expression during the, “off the record,” portion of our conversation.

The Journal news article that followed the election (11/06/03) was complimentary toward me and for that I'm thankful. If certain bias were to exist, surely it would have been displayed in the Nov. 6 article. Since bias was absent from your writings, I'll choose to believe I (unfortunately) tried to make a mountain of a molehill.

Please accept my apology for making such an inappropriate commentary. I truly regret the ill will it has caused and will refrain from making such comments in the future.

American tribe to come into the community and develop a casino, and another that would allow Magna Entertainment, Inc., a division of the large automotive supplier Magna International, to construct a large scale project that begins with the development of a racetrack and clubhouse.

We believe both projects are good for the community, and voters should endorse them.

The racetrack proposed by Magna Entertainment has been a widely publicized development. Much of the publicity has centered around the racetrack portion of the development, though, and as representatives from the global firm are quick to point out, that is only a portion of what they want to construct on the 200-acre site.

It's true that it will be the first phase of the development, but it will also include a research and development component that will ultimately house the headquarters for Magna International. It's that portion of the program that appeals to us; it's a defined use with a defined user.

The later portions of the development, which include a mixed-use retail and commercial component, a movie theater, will also be a boon to the community. Even though that portion of the project will appear a few years down the road, we believe the company is committed to providing it; the race track is proposed for the back end of the site, which leads the more prime property open for the second phase of the project. Until the second phase of the project is complete, the race track will still be a huge attraction – with its planned entertainment component, it will prove to be far more than a simple racetrack. It will be a destination for diners, concertgoers and corporations in need of convention space.

Magna Entertainment has already shown a commitment to the project, and the community. They've spent nearly $30 million on the proposal already, including the $28 million for the land and more than $1 million in engineering fees. They intend to make the project a profitable one for years to come, and residents will benefit from that in the form of additional jobs and, hopefully, lower taxes.

The proposed casino isn't on the same time frame as the proposed Magna development. Officials haven't purchased the land and federal legislation is required to move the project forward. When it happens, though, it will still have an impact on the community. It won't, as some critics suggest, generate additional gamblers or suddenly turn residents to the dark side. It will merely provide an alternative for those who already visit casinos in Detroit or across the border, and it will help bring revenue into the community, as well.

Developers of both project say that they will spark additional investments nearby in the form of more restaurants, shopping plazas and the like. We're a little less convinced of that – they both would offer visitors a place to dine and would tend to be more profitable if they stay within their developments, rather than take their dollars elsewhere. Even so, the casino and Magna development will give city officials something they've long sought – an identity for their community outside Detroit Metro Airport.

As long as city officials make good on their promise to use the revenue for additional community features, it makes sense for residents to approve both projects. Vote yes for the racetrack and casino on Dec. 2.

crashes, and thousands more are injured. More than half of all teens who die in crashes are not wearing their safety belts, and belt use for teens and young adults continues to lag behind the rest of the population.

So, how do we get young people to buckle up when they think they are invincible? It's simple: surround them with the strong message, "Buckle Up or Pay Up: Click it or Ticket." If you won't buckle up to save your life, then buckle up to save yourself a ticket and back it up with a strong enforcement push.

This is exactly what is going to happen this Thanksgiving holiday as the Click it Or Ticket mobilization delivers the message throughout television and radio ads and through heightened enforcement throughout (the state). The Plymouth Township Police Department will be saturating the township using special enforcement activities, watching for drivers who are not wearing their safety belts.

By buckling up their safety belts, teens could save more than just money from hefty fines. They could save lives.

Old Glory

Members of the Veterans of Foreign War (VFW) in Northville wanted an easily recognizable place to deposit old, worn American flags, and they knew exactly where to turn: the U.S. post office. Members of the post purchased a mailbox and gave it a patriotic coat of paint. David Wilder (right) commander of the post, said it was important for American flags to be displayed – and eventually disposed of – properly.

Click It or Ticket

Police increase seat-belt enforcement for holidays

Theresa Wherrett
Staff Writer

Police departments throughout the State of Michigan will work together to help ensure the safety of motorists during the next two weeks.

They initiated a 'click it or ticket' campaign Monday that continues until Nov. 28.

The enforcement areas will run from 2 until 6 p.m. and will be conducted in areas around Westland that are high crash and low safety belt use areas, said Sgt. Daniel Karrick of the Westland Police Department. Special portable "safety belt enforcement zone" signs will alert motorists that they are entering an enforcement area. One officer will serve as a spotter who will radio unbelted motorist information to nearby marked patrol vehicles that will pull over unbuckled motorists, according to Karrick.

This safety belt enforcement is part of the Michigan "click it or ticket" campaign that was adopted in 2000. According to the Michigan State Police, 1,279 people were killed in Michigan car crashes during 2002. Another 112,484 were injured. Forty percent of those killed were not wearing safety belts. The State Police estimate that 60 percent of those killed could have been saved had they been wearing safety belts. Saving 60 percent of the 1,279 killed means that 767 people could have been alive today.

The only proven way to get significant increases in safety belt use among young people and to ultimately save lives is through a high visibility enforcement.

Michigan state law requires:

- All front seat passengers to be buckled up
- All passengers under age 16 to be buckled up, in all seating positions

• All children under age 4 to be in an approved child safety seat, in all seating positions

Lt. Tom Miller of the Wayne Police Department said the effort on the streets would be bolstered by ads on television and radio, as well.

"It will be supported by state and national advertising targeted at young drivers in addition to highly visible enforcement," he said. "The only proven way to get significant increases in safety belt use among young people and to ultimately save lives is through a high visibility enforcement.

"Teens and young drivers are killed at far higher rates in crashes because they are caught in the lethal intersection of inexperience, risk-taking and low safety belt use," Miller added. "These tragedies are predictable and therefore preventable, using proven techniques like high visibility enforcement mobilizations."

Sgt. Steve Rapson of the Plymouth Township Police Department said the effort will help educate teens and save them money, as well as make them safer drivers.

"By buckling up their safety belts, teens could save more than just money from hefty fines," he said. "They could save their lives."

Catholic Central's Derek Brooks flies by defenders in a 38-7 victory over the Canton Chiefs last Friday night.

Chiefs playoff run ends, lose 38-7

Jeff Novak
Staff Writer

After surviving a whirlwind season, the Canton Chiefs landed on the yellow brick road that led to the Emerald City – well, the Pontiac Silverdome anyway – for a chance at a state championship.

After defeating tough opponents like Wayne and John Glenn in the firsts two rounds of the playoffs, the Chiefs somehow stumbled off the beaten path and found themselves in the nightmarish world ruled by Redford Catholic Central, who is far from being a munchkin team.

There, everything that went right for Canton during their undefeated regular season went oddly wrong. The overpowering giants on Catholic Central's defense thwarted their normally explosive offense and the Chiefs' vastly improved defense was mauled by the efforts of CC's explosive tailback Derek Brooks.

When all was done CC thrashed Canton for 346 yards of offense on the ground and ended their dreams of a state championship for this year with a 38-7 wallop.

Things were different from the get go in Canton-land on that fateful Friday night a week ago. The blue and white flags were noticeable on entering the parking lot of the Canton High School – they were flying high above a parked RV where dozens of CC fans tailgated like it was the Super Bowl pre-party.

More CC fans filled up the visitors' bleachers including their own band that played relentlessly every time CC scored, which was just as ruthless. When the CC team entered the stadium it was like a replay of the lunar eclipse two weeks ago but it was the giant CC linemen that blotted out the moon, a sign somehow that the universe flip-flopped and Canton appeared to be the underdog for the first time this year.

The eventual loss was evident on the first drive when the normally conservative Canton coach Tim Baechler decided to go for it on fourth-and-one from their 41-yard line.

Canton quarterback Shawn Little fumbled the snap and CC recovered. At that moment the tide changed and it dragged the hopes of a Canton victory with it. Seven plays later Brooks smashed his way through the Canton defense to put his team on the board. The extra point was good for a 7-0 lead.

On Canton's second possession they went for it again on fourth-and-seventeen on CC's 30-yard line and failed. Catholic Central regained possession and marched down field to score in the first four seconds of the second quarter. The touchdown was set up by a 49-yard sprint by Brooks to Canton's 1-yard line, where Eric Vojtkofsky punched it in for a score. The extra point was nailed for a 14-0 CC lead.

Later in the second, Canton's normally sure-handed tailback, Travis McKinney, fumbled the ball, which set up a field goal to put CC up 17-0 with 3:15 left in the first half.

Canton trudged forward with a heart only the Tin Man from the Wizard of Oz could be proud of and Julian Smith punched it in from the 3-yard line. Dutch Morrell booted the extra point to

Romulus wins in thrilling game

Jeff Novak
Staff Writer

Practicing for weeks on end – painstaking. Playing a 20-game season – exhausting. Finishing the season with an 18-2 overall record – outstanding. Winning the Mega Division White Championship – immeasurable.

When Romulus coach Rhonda McAllister and the Lady Eagles took to the court last Thursday night against Dearborn for the division championship, they knew it would be a battle to the end.

And it was.

Down by five points at the half and down by eight late in the third, the Eagles fought their way back to edge out the Pioneers 64-58 in a spectacular victory.

Senior starting center and co-captain Alicia Harbor led in the second-half, rally with 20 points and eight rebounds.

"In one of our timeouts in the second half, Alicia (Harbor) told the team 'Get me the ball.' I have never seen that kind of determination in her face before," McAllister said.

Harbor scored 14 of her 20 points after that, most of them coming off rebounds.

During the first half Harbor was fairly quiet as the hesitant Eagle team fought just to keep close.

"The referees told the players that they were going to call the game tight," McAllister said. "So the girls came out second-guessing themselves. We were playing not to lose – we weren't playing to win in the first half."

The Eagles were down by nine with less than two minutes left in the first half, but Janiece Armstrong nailed two three-pointers to move the Eagles to within three points. But then Dearborn star Yvonne Hamood sank a pair from the line to give the Pioneers a five-point lead.

Eagles top Zebras, 53-41

After a thrilling division championship victory last Thursday, the Eagles went on to Wayne Memorial and beat the Zebras 53-41 in the first round of district playoffs on Monday night.

It was a closer game than the score indicated.

Romulus led the first quarter with a 7-4 lead but Wayne fought valiantly and outscored the Eagles 18-15 in the second to end the first half tied at 22.

Romulus got in their groove in the second half and outscored Wayne 16-9 in the third quarter for a 38-31 lead and continued to outscore them in the fourth 15-10 to take home the victory.

Erika Mims led the Eagles with 16 points, Armstrong hit for 15 and Ashley Sibby nailed 13 points in the playoff game. Price led the Zebras with 21 points on the night.

Unfortunately, the Zebras lost more than a district playoff game Monday night. Wayne coach Dan Kaminski announced to the team that he was retiring from coaching the girls' varsity team.

"They're a great group of girls. I wouldn't trade them for any team," he said. "This is the way we thought they would play all season."

Rocks win conference

Jeff Novak
Staff Writer

Thirty-two minutes, 10 girls, four quarters and two teams...only one championship.

Two of the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) top teams, Canton and Salem, battled each other for the conference championship last Wednesday night. The giant Salem Rocks' team showed up in top form while the Canton Chiefs, undefeated in conference play, never found their rhythm during the contest that resulted in a 41-28 Salem victory.

"Salem played a little harder, a little smarter and executed better," said Canton Coach Bob Blohm. "We couldn't balance our attack. We couldn't get our offense going. Overall, we could have worked a little harder."

"Salem just played better and deserved to win."

Salem's defense dominated the game and held one of Canton's top scorers, junior center Katie Cezat, to just eight points. The Rocks managed to keep two players on her at all times and the Chiefs couldn't feed her the ball as usual, forcing them to rely on senior guard Rachele Guastella's outside shooting.

She led the Chiefs with 15 points, which included a three-cut into CC's lead 17-7. A 78-yard screen pass from Little to McKinney set up the touchdown. It would have been a respectable showing if the game ended then. Canton had the momentum going into halftime but that didn't foil CC – or Brooks – who opened the second half with a 98-yard kickoff return to put CC up 24-7. Canton never regained their composure after that. “I didn't expect to get manhandled up front like that,” Baechler said. “I knew there was a size difference, especially with our defensive line. But we've made plays all year – they just pushed us around.” Canton's defense allowed Brooks 99 yards on 11 carries and their offense headed by McKinney, Devin Thomas and Chuck Schumacher only gained 104 yards with 72 of them coming on their final drive.

But, the real stinger was the second-half kickoff return by CC. “The return was a backbreaker,” Baechler said. “The kids were confident coming out of the locker room at half time and that just hurt us. “We made some mental mistakes but we're learning and that makes us a better team. We're getting better.” Reality hit when Baechler's son ran up to him after the game, teary-eyed, and wrapped his arms around his leg. “It'll be okay buddy,” Baechler said to his son. “We'll get them next year.” Nobody should be surprised if they do.

pointer to pull Canton to within two, but Salem's junior guard Alyssa Guerin answered with a nice jumper for three to extend their lead to 15-10 at the end of the first half. The Chiefs kept it within four points through most of the third quarter until the final three minutes, where Salem knocked down eight points to the Canton's three. Salem held Canton to just five total points in the third quarter. Two came off of an inside shot from Cezat in the first minute of the third and the other three were made by Guastella on an outside shot. Everything in-between just wouldn't go in the basket for the Chiefs. Canton had several nice shots but the ball bounced around the rim like a lone kernel of corn in an air popper and fell to the wayside, or rather, into the hands of Salem players. On the other side of the court Salem couldn't miss with a basket that was like a black hole sucking in everything thrown its way especially in the fourth quarter where the Rocks posted 17 points to put the game away 41-28. Guerin shot 11-for-13 from the free-throw line and finished the night with 20 points to lead the Rocks. Junior guard Ellen Canale notched 14 and freshman forward Theresa Cappiellie nabbed 10 rebounds for the Rocks.

This time we couldn't contain those two.

You can't let those two go off on you.

Coach Bob Blohm

This game had a completely opposite result from the first time the two teams met this season on Oct. 28. Canton edged out the win that time where they held the Rocks' Guerin and Canale to a combined 16 points, according to Blohm. “This time we couldn't contain those two,” he said. “You can't let those two go off on you.” There's a chance, if both teams play well in the first round of districts this week, that Canton will have a chance to face Guerin, Canale and the rest of the Rocks for a rematch in the district championship game. Districts, hosted by South Lyon, started this week and both Salem and Canton drew byes for the first round on Monday night. Canton played South Lyon and Salem played Northville on Wednesday night but the results were not available for this edition.

Hamood dominated for most of the game and led her side of the court with 36points. To start the second half Ashley Sibby nailed six of her 11 points in the first two minutes of the third quarter to pull Romulus to within one at 35-34. Dearborn managed to inch ahead again but it was a combination of Armstrong and Harbor that tied the game at 48 with 10 seconds left in the third. Hamood hit 1-2 from the free throw line in the final seconds of the third to put Dearborn up 49-48 to start the fourth quarter. With four minutes left in the game and the score tied at 54, senior Erika Mims hit for three to put the Eagles up 57-54. Romulus dominated the rest of the game and put it away 64-58. “We knew that if we could keep it close on our court we wouldn't lose,” McAllister said.

Rockets blast Patriots 37-20 in district playoffs

Jeff Novak
Staff Writer

The John Glenn Rockets beat Franklin 37-30 in the first round of district playoffs Monday night, hosted by Wayne Memorial High School.

Franklin jumped on the board first to take a 2-0 lead but Amy Bailey retaliated with two points of her own to tie the game for John Glenn. And, once Jennifer Schwartz made two from the line, the Rockets moved ahead and never looked back.

However, Franklin was never too far behind. The first quarter ended 9-8 but the Rockets scored 11 and held Franklin to four points in the second to put them up 20-12 at the half.

The Rockets had trouble shooting from the line and made only 7-17 which allowed Franklin to creep back. The Patriots outscored the Rockets 18-17 in the second half with 13 of those points scored in the fourth quarter. That wasn't enough for Franklin to overtake the lead and Wayne escaped with the win.

"Our defense did well," said John Glenn coach Mike Schuette. "We played within our means."

The first round victory allowed John Glenn another shot at Belleville, who beat them in the first game of the season. The second round against Belleville took place on Wednesday, but the results were not available at press time.

"Over the last few weeks we have been playing better as a team," Schuette said after the win against Franklin. "We're excited to play Belleville again."

The Rockets entered the district tournament after a close and hard fought 52-51 victory over Livonia Churchill. This was the second time in three weeks that the two teams faced off against one another. The last time they met was Oct. 28 and Churchill came away with a 52-40 win.

This time was a different story as the Rockets came out charged up for the rematch and took an early 12-0 lead to start the game. But Churchill whittled it down to a two-point game at the end of the first half, said John Glenn coach Mike Schuette.

"In the second half it was a seven-point game most of the way through," he said. "Toward the end they cut it down to a three point game."

The Rockets' Erika Montague hit 1-2 from the free-throw line to put the team up by four with just four seconds left on the clock, which saved the game from going into overtime since Churchill's Robyn Johnson nailed a half-court three-pointer at the buzzer to bring them within one.

Karla Nobles led the team effort with 22 points and Brandi Jones added 12 for the Rockets. Jennifer Schwartz had a solid game off the boards with 12 rebounds.

Jennifer Thauvette came up big again when she nailed four free throws in the final minutes of the game to maintain Glenn's three-point lead.

The Rockets finished the season with a 6-14 overall record.

Whalers battle Battalion in 4-2 win, tie Sarnia

Jeff Novak
Staff Writer

The Plymouth Whalers almost pulled off an overtime win in Sarnia Saturday night, but fell short with a 2-2 tie. Ryan Ramsay led Plymouth with a goal and an assist.

Sarnia's John Hacimovic gave the Sting an early 1-0 lead when he beat Plymouth goalie Ryan Nie in the first period of play.

Jonas Fiedler tied the game off of assists from Ramsay and Canton native James Wisniewski. Ramsay scored on a power play to put the Whalers up 2-1 in the third period.

With just one minute left to play the Whalers attempted to clear the puck around the board and a bad bounce put the puck in the back of the Whaler's net to send the game into a scoreless overtime.

"I thought we played a very solid game at both ends," said Mike Vellucci, Plymouth Whalers general manager and head coach. "That was a tough break at the end, but we had some great chances in overtime. These guys have no reason to hang their heads after the effort they gave."

The Whalers' effort paid off the previous night with a 4-2 victory over the Brampton Battalion. Plymouth had another slow start and allowed Brampton to score twice in the first seven minutes of the game. The two quick goals forced Vellucci to pull goalie Jeff Weber and replace him with Ryan Nie.

John Mitchell scored off a power play to cut into the Battalion's lead. John Vigilante and Wisniewski recorded assists.

Vigilante tied the game 2-2 off of a breakaway with assists from Ramsay and Mike Letzia.

Vigilante scored again in the third period to put the Whalers ahead 3-2 with assists from Ramsay and David Liffiton. Vaclav Meidl put the game away at 4-2 with assists from Dan Collins and Wisniewski.

The Whalers are 11-6-5 on the year, which puts them in third place in the western division of the Ontario Hockey League (OHL). Plymouth will play in Ontario against the London Knights tomorrow night and return home to battle Erie Otters on Saturday night.
